1. Student Sign Up

Students can create a BFE account using Bloomberg Terminal access by running the function {BCER<GO>}. Click on Sign Up in the upper left of the page.

Make sure you add your university email domain.

The screenshot shows the Bloomberg Certificates Sign Up page. The navigation menu on the left includes: Login, Sign Up (highlighted in blue), BBG for Education, FAQ, Certificates, BMC, Overview, Course Modules, ESG, Overview, and Course Modules. The main content area is titled "Sign Up with first and last name desired on your BMC Certificate" and contains the following fields: First Name, Last Name, Non-Bloomberg Email, and Password . The Password field has a note: " Must contain at least one letter and one number. 8 characters minimum." Below the fields is a Terms of Service section with a dropdown menu set to "Bloomberg Institute Terms of Service" and a checkbox for "I signify that I have read and agree to the Terms of Service." A "Sign Up" button is located at the bottom right. Two callouts are present: one circular callout on the left highlights the "Sign Up" menu item, and another circular callout on the right highlights the "First Name", "Last Name", "Non-Bloomberg Email", and "Password *" fields.

Once you have validated your email, click on login in the upper left corner.

Once you have logged in, click on the Launch Course button in the middle of the page. This will launch a web browser.

2. Downloading Your Certificate

In the Certificates tab, you can click on the course you have completed.

3. Student FAQ

Is it possible to reset a student's score?

No. Bloomberg follows a no reset policy, unless there is a technical glitch that has affected the user.

If you had a technical issue and need to reset a module, please send evidence to Bloomberg via bbq.edu@bloomberg.net.

Where can I find assistance?

In the Finance Area, we have a dedicated assistant available to support you with the Bloomberg terminal. Feel free to reach out to us via the library email: library@wu.ac.at.
